Economics Without Ecocide

PETER BROWN

Author and Professor, School of Environment, McGill University

Five Questions about the Economy

1. What is the economy for?
2. How does it work?
3. How big should it be?
4. What's fair?
5. How should the economy be governed?

Dr. Brown will explore these questions in a talk about his new book, Right Relationship, which offers a map for rebuilding the economy in line with ecology, ethics, and governance for the well-being of Earth's commonwealth of life--a whole Earth economy.

A panel discussion informed by audience questions/comments will follow with Dr. Brown and members of Mason faculty: Dr. Peter Balint, Public & International Affairs and Environmental Science & Policy; Dr. Susan Crate, Environmental Science & Policy; and Dr. Robert Nadeau, English.

A book signing by Brown follows the discussion.
