

GREEN VOLUNTEERING

Practice sustainability on campus to raise your environmental impact!

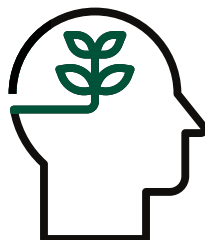

“Every 9 in 10 people reported an emotional boost from giving back and volunteering” - Gallup (Clifton, Harter, p.72, 2021)

As George Mason University’s professional team members, your welfare, network, and engagement are a priority. To support your well-being and sense of community, Human Resources and University Sustainability have partnered to offer exciting, sustainable opportunities for service.

One way to be more involved, is through George Mason’s sustainable volunteer opportunities. It is our hope that all George Mason faculty and staff members, with a passion for sustainability, join us and make a positive impact through service!

If you are a George Mason employee whose regular work hours occur during University Sustainability’s volunteer opportunities, express your interest in volunteering to your supervisor or team leader.

Employees may also receive approval to use School Assistance and Volunteer Service Leave, for those who are eligible. For additional information, visit the School Assistance and Volunteer Service Leave website or email engagehr@gmu.edu.
